

Monday 5th December 2011

This week saw several events taking place in the school hall.

Having taken recorder lessons this term, provided by the Kingston Music Service, Farah class performed a fabulous assembly for the whole school on Thursday.

Also on Thursday, Weir class opened their Dinosaur Museum. Amongst the exhibits were models of some very rare species such as the Poposaurus and the Spikysaurus, along with information books explaining what these creatures ate and where they lived. The children were highly knowledgeable experts and everyone enjoyed the delicious dinosaur cakes!

On Friday afternoon the hall was packed for our Christmas Fair. The Friends of Ellingham worked incredibly hard to make this a very enjoyable and, hopefully, highly profitable event. A big thank you to them and everyone who attended.

Finally, to avoid disappointment, please remember to order your tickets for the carol concerts on the 19th and 20th.
